

Chung Tai Chan Monastery USA

Texas Pagoda Chan Monastery

Chung Tai plans to build the largest all-purpose Zen monastery in the USA. Its artistic, cultural, and Buddhist buildings and articles, when completed, will attract countless practitioners and tourists from all over the world to Shepherd, Texas. This is a historic event, likely to have an impact for one thousand years or more. First-phase construction was started in August 2009 to build Texas Pagoda Chan Monastery and expand roads. Its cost will be about $3.5 million dollars (US$3,500,000). The ensuing Second-phase construction will include a meditation hall, library, kitchen, dining hall, dormitory, lay community, Lake Park, etc.

The sutras state that helping to construct a Buddhist monastery has unimaginable merits and blessings. Donors will eliminate countless bad karma right away and gain wealth and health. They will be born in the heavens with imperishable palaces made of seven jewels, have the company of holy beings, enjoy the True Teaching life after life, and eventually attain enlightenment.

We encourage everyone to cherish this precious opportunity and make the following offerings:

Payments can be made in one lump sum or in installments, by cash or check, payable to: Chung Tai Chan Monastery USA.

The Monastery is a religious, non-profit organization; donations are fully tax-deductible.
